BINGHAM PRAISES NEW YORK

NO CITY WHOSE PEOPLE ARE SO READY TO AID ONE ANOTHER.

Police Commissioner and Attorney General Wickersham Speak at Annual Meeting of the University Settlement Society-Henry W. Taft Presides.

Henry W. Taft presided yesterday at the annual meeting of the University Settlement Society at 181 Eldridge street. He presented Attorney-General Wickersham as one who had long been interested in the settlement work. Mr. Wickersham

"I think that to a large extent in this city the people living next door to us are not our neighbors, and that this is one of the misfortunes of life in New York. I feel that this neighborhood work is one of the most important that the citizens can engage in. It behooves all of us to come down here and interest ourselves in all these children about here, in a neighborhood where people come from different nationalities, with different ideas, from all parts of the world. To me it seems that this is one of the most important philanthropic works that people can en-rage in, in the interests of the nation."

Police Commissioner Bingham made his auditors laugh before he had finished his est sentence, although he went on to give them a serious talk. "I am glad to look you in the face." said he, "for a number of reasons"—and then they seemed to see one of the reasons and laughed, and the General ioined them before continuing—"partly because you are engaged in a higher work than I am trying to do in the city of New York. I know no city—and this is a source of pride to me—where people are so ready to help one another as here in New York. Money is poured out in these efforts to help.

"Laying aside all questions of religion. I think that all thinking people believe that there is such a thing as the spiritual life as well as the natural life. With all the scientific progress that there has been men find nothing to break the law to continuity. Then nothing is surer than that, as there are laws governing them a serious talk. "I am glad to look than that, as there are laws governing the material side, there are—there must be laws governing the spiritual side of life, although none has come back from the other side of Jordan to prove this to us. Then, it is most important to observe those laws, for if there is anything that goes on it is the spirit—that way continuity lies. In helping the foreigners in our country certain conditions must be observed. While we are proud of being Americans and try to instill the spirit of loyalty to America in the strangers who come to our country, even the server in the spirit of loyalty to America in the strangers who come to our country. a the strangers who come to our country, his, in my judgment, should be remembered: that the Anglo-Saxon race, great are its traditions, is not the only one the world. We mustn't be in too much of a hurry to make Americans of these

Let patience be the word. Let tolerance, charity, be the word. Don't be in too much haste to make Americans of forty miles between Pittsburg and Butler. Both cars were filled with shoppers go much haste as to make them forget the glorious things in their own history. The Jews, the Italians, the French, all of the peoples, have glories of their own history. It is not necessary that babies be taught to sing 'Hail, Columbia!' and not know what they are singing. In my judgment you will have more loyal Americans by consideration of the great things of their history than if you try to force them too fast. On their great past graft the spirit of American liberty, and then as they are able to understand their opportunities here they will become the more useful. Here in New York we are up against not so much real wickedness as misunderstanding of the whole question."

In the distance of the people and of their children—so much haste as to make them forget the glorious things in their coming from or coming to Pittsburg. One of the conductors evidently missed the red light which is supposed to have been fitshed at the place where the double track merged into the single track and which was supposed to hold the car whose of their councitor found the light until the arrival of the other car. The conductor of each car, however, insists that no red light was supposed to the navy yard and last fall he was reduced to the rank of laborer but retained the same pay. He was sent to the open to work and this brought on a renewal of a bronchial affection with which he had been afflicted ever since the war and which he contracted on a raft in the Mississippi.

"It was in January when, as his ailment wasn't getting any better, he asked for a leave of absence. They were then laying off employees and as Mr. Chase had to take his turn he asked for and obtained as it weeks leave. He was assured.

AMBULANCE SMASHED BY CAR.

Surgeon, Driver and Trolley Conductor Hurt in Sixth Avenue Collision. A New York Hospital ambulance carrying Dr. Thomas W. Burnett was wrecked at Sixth avenue and Thirtieth street early yesterday morning by a southbound Sixth avenue trolley car. The ambulance surgeon, his driver, Thomas Burke, and the conductor of the trolley car were slightly hurt.

The man who worked hard was supposed to require meat two or three times a day. Science has found out differently. It is now a common thing for the family physician to order less meat, as in the following letter from a N. Y. man:

"I had suffered for years with dyspepsia and nervousness. My physician advised me to eat less meat and greasy foods generally. I tried several things to take the place of my usual breakfast of chops, fried potatoes, etc., but got no relief until I tried Grape-Nuts food.

Timothy White of 609 Ninth avenue, the motorman of the trolley car were slightly hurt.

The ambulance was responding to a call in West Thirtieth street and was about to cross Sixth avenue at Thirtieth street and was about to cross Sixth avenue at Thirtieth street and was about to cross Sixth avenue at Thirtieth street and was about to cross Sixth avenue at Thirtieth street and was about to cross Sixth avenue at Thirtieth street and was about to cross Sixth avenue at Thirtieth street and was about to cross Sixth avenue at Thirtieth street when Burke saw the trolley car coming. Thinking he had the right of way Burke rang his bell and drove across the tracks. The car mashed the ambulance against an elevated railroad pillar, throwing out the occupants of the car, Joseph Bucker of 2097 Seventh avenue, off the back platform.

fire twice to his home, Joseph Blassi, 17 years old, of 88 Garden street, Newark, yesterday confessed his guilt. The police say that he saturated rags with oil and set them on fire in the cellar. Blassi told the police he liked to look at fires.

The boy was arrested Friday night. A man passing his home saw smoke coming from the cellar windows and told Policeman Blewitt, who put out the blaze. When the policeman rushed into the cellar he found Blassi near the fire dressed in a rubber coat and boots. At that time Blassi said he was in the kitchen of his home when he smelled smoke and thought he would see what it was. Yesterday he admitted that he had not told the truth.
